Recommended for full-time students of subject area 0306 "Management and Administration".

Introduction

Profound changes in the socio-economic sphere taking place in our country in recent years, directly affect the education sector, require training highly qualified specialists of national economy with in-depth knowledge of the law. Basics of legal knowledge are laid in secondary and special schools, gymnasiums, lyceums, where students learn the basics of the legal science, obtain initial information about the specifics of legal regulation of social relations, and get acquainted with the peculiarities of branch legislation. Later students get more profound knowledge and skills at universities, with an opportunity to apply the expert in-depth knowledge of the law to the national economy of Ukraine. While only those who attend law school can learn the bulk of the many laws enacted in Ukraine, it is important for non-law school students to become familiar with the basic rules and regulations as it is an important life skill.

The proposed syllabus is intended for this category of students. It fully complies with the academic program of Law, which contains requirements for the necessary knowledge and competence level of this academic discipline. The syllabus will help to comprehend and properly understand the basic scientific concepts and categories of state and law; civil, family, labor rights and responsibilities; civil, marriage and labor contracts' specifics; the notion and specifics of administrative and criminal responsibility; other phenomena of the state legal reality the understanding and knowing of which is extremely required today not only from future lawyers, but from every educated person who in accordance with the Constitution of Ukraine should know how to realize their rights and responsibilities.

Especially it is very important for future managers. When they do business and need to make use of contracts and agreements, they will do it much better if they are familiar with the current laws. Many companies and individuals regularly take advantage of the legal code to save large amounts of money. In any event, understanding basic and fundamental laws is one of the most important life skills that one can have. Those who are not familiar with laws are most likely to end up being sued, scammed, or even sent to prison. Many disputes and lawsuits can be easily avoided when people take their time to become familiar with laws prior to making a business deal. Any good manager needs to understand and be aware of the legal responsibilities they must adhere to on behalf of their company. A good grounding in employment law will give managers both the knowledge and the confidence to handle situations with their staff where following a legal procedure is a requirement. This academic discipline provides an overview of the labor law, giving practical and current advice to managers on the key areas that they will come across in their day-to-day staff management.

In this connection development and introduction of the academic discipline "Law" in the curriculum of bachelors of all training directions of subject area 0306 "Management and Administration" is actual. It is a compulsory academic discipline and it is taught to full-time students.

2. The purpose and tasks of the academic discipline

The purpose of the discipline is to give systematized scientific knowledge of the basics of the theory of law and other branches of law and, on this basis, to provide the formation of the elements of the legal culture, legal guidelines and lawful behavior of students in society.

Studying the academic discipline "Law" implies executing the following tasks:

firstly, learning the specific professional terminology and forming a competent professional legal language as an important component of the legal culture of a future specialist which will allow further exploring other legal sciences on a higher level;

secondly, the development of logical thinking, the ability to support one's own position, the development of creative inclinations of students;

thirdly, developing basic skills in research, which is important for self-improvement and learning at university;

fourthly, understanding the main provisions of the branch legislation aimed at the regulation of personal rights and duties of citizens;

fifthly, the formation of professional and personal competences of students through scientific and theoretical training on the basics of law.

The object of the discipline is a complex set of social relations that arise in the process of activity of subjects of law in various spheres of life.

The subject of the academic discipline is learning the state-legal reality, namely the regularities of law, the regulatory and legal content of the legal norm, legal tools, means and techniques of legal work and so on.

In order to best learn the material, students need to start with acquiring knowledge and skills in the field of the General Economic Theory, the History of Ukraine, and the History of Economic Thought.

In the process of studying, students receive the necessary knowledge during classes (lectures and practicals). Independent work of students is also of great importance in the process of learning and consolidation of knowledge. It includes preparation for lectures and practical lessons, realization of creative work and preparation for participation in conferences, brain-rings. The most difficult questions should be discussed during practical lessons. All kinds of lessons are made in accordance with the credit-module system of the educational process. An important place in learning the discipline is given to using certain methods of intensification of the learning process.

After studying the academic discipline "Law" students should:

the basic principles and sources of law, the effective provisions of the Constitution and legislation of Ukraine;

how to determine the scope of operation of normative-legal acts in time, in space and in terms of the number of people;

the perspectives and main lines of development of Ukraine and other countries' legislation;

be able:

to correctly interpret and apply legal norms in the process of work on speciality;

to support their own point of view and make decisions on specific matters of regulation of legal relations, to give them a legal assessment.

An essential element of successful learning of the academic material of the discipline is independent work of students with legal literature and normative-legal acts.

5.1. Examples of typical practical tasks for the themes

Practical task 1. Aristotle in his book "Politics" wrote that the state was the highest form of human interaction which covered all other forms of communication and that the state arose for the needs of life to achieve certain good. However, in the process of its development the state goes, according to the philosopher, through several stages which are identified with the stages of social association and committed by men in their natural desire to communicate.

The first stage is the family consisting of a man, a woman and children. Next – is a large (extended) family, which combines several generations of blood relatives with side branches of the family delimitation. Then – a village or settlement, and eventually – a policy. Polis according to Aristotle is the highest form of bringing people together, which covers all other forms.

What state origin theory is Aristotle a representative of?

Practical task 2. In Afghanistan, after the seizure of power by the Islamic group "Taliban" many rules of Sharia law were introduced. Women were forbidden to work, go to school and go out without a veil. All civil servants were obliged to let their beards, and those who came to work shaved, were subject to dismissal.

What type of social norms does this example provide?

Practical task 3. According to Part 1 of Article 136 of the Criminal Code of Ukraine:

1. Failure to provide help to a person who is in a condition dangerous to life, where such help could have been provided, or failure to inform appropriate institutions or persons of this person's condition, where this has caused grievous bodily injuries, – shall be punishable by a fine of 200 to 500 tax-free minimum incomes, or community service for a term of 150 to 240 hours, or arrest for a term up to six months.

Find the disposition, the hypothesis and the sanction in this article.

Practical task 4. A citizen applied to the court for eviction of the roommate from his apartment. In support of his requirements he referred to:

- 1) the Housing Code of Ukraine;
- 2) a scientific journal article, in which scientists solve an essentially similar situation;
- 3) a relevant Resolution of the Supreme Court of Ukraine on a similar claim.

Which of the given references must court take into account? What does the notion the "source of law" include and what sources of law do you know?

Practical task 5. The Minister of Justice John Ashcroft after the tragedy of September 11, 2001 (the terrorist act) introduced a custom to begin a working day in the ministry with a morning prayer. After a while the minister also offered his subordinates to perform his own songs, the texts of which he gave before morning meeting to all the participants who had the opportunity to join singing them. However, many of the staff did not support this idea and even refused to sing (newspaper "Today" of March 6, 2002).

1. Can you agree that introduction of this rule for Ministry's employees is legitimate?

2. Is it possible to enter a custom as a rule of conduct by an arbitrary willful decision?

Practical task 6.

After graduating from college and institute, citizen V. had worked at the "Arsenal" factory for 32 years, holding consistently positions of tool-maker, shift foreman, shop superintendent, chief engineer.

However, due to the achievement of retirement age and taking into account the substantial experience in manufacturing, V. was dismissed at his own request by order No. 12/75 Km dated 01.01.2007.

V., already retired, bought a garden plot and took up gardening, fishing and more. Once he found his household appliances and garden tools missing, and officially reported this to the local policeman, specifying all the details of the circumstances in his application. Four months later, the person who committed the crime was detected, and later by the court, the material damage was recovered to the victim V.

Analyze all of the life circumstances connected with the history of citizen V. and identify those that can be considered as legal facts, distributing them on the volitional basis into actions and events.

Practical task 7. What is the difference between the concepts of "law and order" and "public order"?

Public order is part of the law and order.

Law and order and public order are identical concepts.

Law and order is part of public order.

Practical task 8. Marina, a 17-year old married woman, sold the apartment inherited from her grandmother. Parents, when they heard about it, began to demand the termination of the contract of sale.

1. Can Marina sell the inherited apartment? 2. What ways to get full legal capability do you know?

Practical task 9. 16-year old Peter, who worked in the company "Garant", spent on drink the major part of his salary. He wore poor clothes, worn out shoes, had no money for medicines, and sometimes for food. Peter's father died, and single mother had a very small income. Therefore she made a statement to the court about limiting her son in capability. Peter was sure that he would not be limited in capability. First, it is possible to limit the capability of the person who has full capability. Secondly, he had no family, which he could put in a difficult financial situation. Assess the arguments of Peter.

Practical task 10. During marriage Stephen and Diana acquired several valuable women's rings. Diana had never worn them, and her husband kept these things for the accumulation of capital. They decided to divorce and a question about the owner of that property arose. Diana insisted that it was her personal private property, as that was women's jewelry, items for personal use. Stephen believed that the jewelry was the object of a joint ownership, as they were not acquired to be worn, but for capital accumulation.

Who is right in this situation? Justify your answer.

6. Independent work of students

Independent work (IW) is a form of the educational process in which a student performs tasks independently under the guidance of a methodical teacher.

The purpose of IW is full assimilation of the syllabus and formation of general and professional competences which play a significant role in the development of future highly qualified specialists.

The educational time given for independent work of full-time students is determined by the syllabus and makes 51 % (164 hours) of the total study time for the academic discipline (324 hours). During the self-study students become active participants in the educational process, learning how to develop conscious attitude to mastering the theoretical and practical knowledge, freely navigate in the cyberspace, take personal responsibility for the quality of their own training. IW includes processing lecture materials, studying the recommended literature, key terms and concepts on the themes of the academic discipline, preparing for practical classes and seminars, preparing to speak at seminars, in-depth study of lectures on particular themes or issues, carrying out individual assignments (independent solution of complex problems) on the studied theme, writing essays on the given problems, searching (selection) and review of the literature on the given problems of the academic discipline, analytical review of scientific publications, checking students' knowledge of the material covered by self-test questions, preparation for tests and other forms of current control, preparation for the control module (colloquium).

A necessary element of successful assimilation of the academic discipline material is independent work of students on domestic and foreign special economic literature, normative acts on public regulation of the economy, the statistics material. The main types of independent work offered to students are based on the theoretical knowledge of the academic discipline (Table 6.1).

7. Research activity of students

The scientific training of students during the study period is an important component of the educational qualification level "Bachelor".

The main objective of this process is the formation of methodological knowledge, the theory method and process, technology, methodological support of scientific research activity, starting with students' science.

Research activity of students takes the form of writing scientific articles on the relevant issues and the gaps in the current legislation relating to administrative, civil, economic, family and labor relations. The theme of the article and writing it is discussed with the scientific adviser and carried out under his/her control. Research activity of students may take the form of writing thesis and participation in national and international conferences, participation in conducting brain-rings and other intellectual games, other forms of individual scientific research.

Evaluation of success of scientific research activity of students is performed in the entire period of study and final marks are given at the end of the relevant semester. The maximum number of points in the semester by the results of the research activities on the discipline "Law" is established according to the technological chart approved for the current academic year. In evaluating the research activities of students the following aspects are taken into account: independence of the execution of a particular scientific work (writing a scientific article, writing a thesis for conferences, etc.), active participation in the relevant activity, the scientific level of the performed work.

8. Individual and consulting work

Individual consulting work is done according to the schedule of individual and consulting activities. It takes the following forms: individual lessons, consultations, checking individual tasks, defending the tasks stipulated by the current control and so on.

The forms of individual consulting activities are:

a) the theoretical material:

counselling: individual (question – answer);

group (dealing with typical examples – situations);

b) practical mastery of the material:

individual and group counselling;

c) for comprehensive assessment of the assimilation of the syllabus material:

individual submission of the executed works.

9. Methods of teaching

For intensification of the educational process it is necessary to use modern educational technologies like problem lectures, mini-lectures, work in small groups, presentations, seminar-discussions (Table 9.1 and 9.2).

The basic difference of active and interactive methods of studies from traditional ones is determined not only by the educational method and technique but also by high efficiency of the educational process which appears in high motivation of students, consolidation of the theoretical knowledge in practice, formation of the ability to make independent and collective decisions, development of skills in social integration.

Theme 13. The Notion and Sources of the Labor Law. Labor contract	A lecture-dialog on the theme "Classification of the labor law sources". Work in groups to research the sources of the labor law and local regulations as a special source of the labor law
Theme 14. Termination of Labor Relations	A lecture-discussion on the theme "The Grounds of the labor contract termination". Work in groups to study the specifics of the labor contract termination
Theme 15. Law Regulation of Working and Rest Hours	A problem lecture on the theme "Overtime work". Work in groups to compile a classification table of working and rest hours. At the end of the lesson the results of the work are to be presented
Theme 16. The Labor Discipline, Disciplinary and Material Responsibility	A lecture-discussion on the theme "The difference between disciplinary and civil responsibility". Work in groups to determine the methods of the labor discipline. At the end of the lesson the results of the work are to be presented
Theme 17. Administrative Responsibility and Other Means of Administrative Compulsion	A problem lecture on the theme "The specifics and kinds of administrative responsibility". Work in team to analyze the situation "Administrative offense" (to determine the composition of the offense and responsibility)
Theme 18. The General Notion of the Criminal Law and Criminal Responsibility	A problem lecture on the theme "Criminal responsibility: the notion and specifics". Group work, aimed to analyze the situation "Criminal offence" (to determine the composition of the crime and responsibility)

Problem lectures aim to develop logical thought of students. The list of questions on the theme of a lecture is limited to two or three key issues; students' attention is focused on the material which has not been presented in the literature. The lecturer sets questions which induce students to search solutions to a problem situation.

Mini-lectures provide the delivery of the teaching material in a short-time interval and are characterized by significant capacity, complexity of logic constructions, images, proofs and generalizations. At the beginning of a mini-lecture the lecturer attracts the students' attention to the necessity of presenting the lecture material in a structural and logic way. While considering the set questions, the lecturer delivers the compressed material.

The lecture lessons stimulate the students' activity and focus their attention on the perception of the material, and also direct them at using a system approach to the reproduction of the information which they have received from the lecturer.

Seminar-discussions provide an exchange of opinions and sights of participants on the problem discussed and its separate aspects. Such seminars develop the independence of students' thinking and the ability to analyse the information, form a certain outlook, develop a skill at formulating ideas, state them and give reasons during the further discussion, and also to evaluate the ideas and offers of others.

Work in small groups enables the teacher to structure lectures or practical lessons (seminars), create opportunities for each student's participation in the work on the theme of the lesson provides the formation of personal qualities and experience of social dialogue. Having discussed the problem or summarized the material students make groups of 5 – 6 people and present the vision and perception of the material at the end of the lesson.

A lecture-dialogue (a lecture including conversation) is dialogue with the audience, a form of attracting students to the learning process, which involves direct contact with the audience. It allows you to highlight the most important issues of the theme, determine the rate of presentation of the educational material taking into account the peculiarities of the audience.

Work in small groups creates possibilities for every student's participating in work on the theme under study, provides formation of personality qualities and experience of social intercourse. After setting a problem students are united in groups of 5 – 6 people to present their vision and perception of the material at the end of the study.

Presentations are made in front of the audience and are used for demonstration of certain achievements, results of the group work, reports on individual tasks, instructing. One of the positive features of presentations and their advantages in the educational process is an exchange of experience received by the students while working in small groups.

Analysis of certain situations (a case method) is one of the methods of active learning that allows making the learning closer to the real practical activity of specialists. This method involves the examination of the production, management and other situations, complicated conflict cases, problem situations, incidents in the course of studying the educational material.

A lecture-discussion (a lecture including controversial issues) is a lecture intended not only to include the answers to the questions of the teacher, but also organize a free exchange of views in the intervals between the logical parts.

Theme 7. The Concept of the Legality and Law and Order. Offense and Legal Responsibility	A seminar lesson on the theme: "The causes and conditions of crime and ways to prevent it"	A mini-lecture, seminar-discussions
Theme 9. The Subjects of the Civil Law	Task 9. Restriction of a natural person's legal capability	Work in small groups, a seminar-discussion
Theme 13. The Notion and Sources of Labor Law. Labor Contracts	Task 13. Conclusion of a labor contract	Work in small groups, a presentation

10. Methods of control

The system of evaluation of competences formed by students takes into account the types of studies which include lectures, practical studies and implementation of independent work according to the syllabus of the academic discipline. Evaluation of competences formed by students is carried out on a 100-point system.

Control measures include:

current control which is carried out during the semester at lectures, practicals, seminars and evaluated as a sum of the gained points (the maximum sum is 60 points; the minimum sum, that allows a student to be examined is 35 points); total/semester control which is conducted in the form of module control (semester 4 and 5) or a semester exam (semester 6 and 7) in accordance with the schedule of the educational process.

Current control on this academic discipline is conducted in such forms:
active work at the lectures;
active participation in the execution of practical tasks;
active participation in discussions and presentation of material at seminars;
conducting control work in writing;
conducting current and module tests;
express questioning.

Final/semester control is conducted in the form of semester module control or a semester examination.

Evaluation of students' knowledge during seminars and practical studies and execution of individual tasks is conducted based on the following criteria:

understanding, the degree of mastering the theory and methodology of the problems which are considered; the degree of mastering the actual material of the academic discipline;

the ability to combine theory with practice when considering situational practical tasks (or individual tasks); logic, structure, style of expounding the material in written works and appearances in front of the audience, the ability to ground the position, carry out generalization of information and draw conclusions.

The general criteria for evaluation of self-study work of students are: profound and thorough knowledge, the level of thought, the ability to systematize knowledge according to separate themes, the ability to draw grounded conclusions, the ability to find the necessary information.

Control work is conducted two times a semester and includes practical tasks of different difficulty level according to the module themes.

Evaluation criteria for extracurricular students' self-study. The general criteria for the evaluation of extracurricular independent work are: the depth and strength of knowledge, the level of thinking, the ability to organize knowledge on certain themes, the ability to draw reasonable conclusions, mastery of the categorical framework, skills and techniques of practical problem-solving, the ability to find, systematize and process the necessary information, self-fulfillment at practical studies.

The procedure of final control. Final control of knowledge and competences of students is based on conducting a semester exam. The examination card covers the discipline syllabus and provides the determination of the knowledge level and mastery of competences of students (see Table 2.1).

The objective of the examination is to test the student's understanding of the syllabus material in general, the logic and connections between different sections, the ability to creatively use knowledge, the ability to formulate their attitude to an issue of the discipline and so on. In terms of the implementation of the competence approach, the exam assesses the level of mastering the competences which are assigned by the qualification requirements. Each examination card consists of three practical situations that involve solving typical professional problems, and allows diagnosis of the level of student's theoretical training and competence in the discipline.

The performance of the examination card tasks is evaluated in accordance with the Temporary Provision "On the Procedure of Evaluation of Students' Academic Performance on the 100-point System" of Simon Kuznets KhNUE.

A student who for a valid reason proved by the document had no opportunity to participate in the forms of current control has the right to work within two weeks after returning to studying by the Dean's order according to the established term.

The student cannot be admitted to sitting the exam if the number of points obtained during the current control according to the module during the semester has not reached 35 points. After examinations the Dean of the Faculty shall order a resolution on the elimination of the academic debt. The student gets the required points in the established period.

The student should be considered attested if the sum of the points obtained by the results of the final/semester control of success equals or exceeds 60. The minimum possible number of points gained in the current control during the semester is 35 and the minimum possible number of points gained in the exam is 25.

The result of the semester exam is assessed in points (the maximum is 40 points, the minimum is 25 points) and is put in the examination "Register of the Academic Performance".

The final mark is calculated on the basis of points obtained in the examination and the current control. The total result for a semester makes: "60 and more points: passed", "59 and fewer points: failed".

Academic qualification "bachelor"

Subject area: 0306 "Management and Administration". Semester 6 or 7

The academic discipline "Law"

EXAMINATION CARD 1

Task 1. 16-year old Peter, who worked in the company "Garant", spent on drink a major part of his salary. He wore poor clothes, worn out shoes, had no money for medicines, and sometimes for food. Peter's father died, and single mother had a very small income. Therefore she made a statement to the court about the limitation of her son in capability. Peter was sure that he would not be limited in capability. First, it is possible to limit the capability of a person who has full capability. Secondly, he has no family, which he could put in a difficult financial situation. 1. Is Peter right and why? 2. What kind of legal capability does he have? (14 points)

Task 2. During marriage Stephen and Diana acquired several valuable women's rings. Diana had never worn them, and her husband kept these things for the accumulation of capital. They decided to divorce and a question about the owner of that property arose. Diana insisted that it was her personal private property, as that was women's jewelry, items for personal use. Stephen believed that jewelry was the object of joint ownership, as they were not acquired to be worn, but for capital accumulation. 1. Who is right in this situation and why? 2. What kind of property forms a joint property of spouses? (13 points)

Task 3. A 17-year old married woman, named Marina, sold the apartment inherited from her grandmother. Her parents, when they heard about it, began to demand the termination of the contract of sale. 1. Can Marina sell the inherited apartment? 2. What ways to get full legal capability do you know? (13 points)

The total points gained in the exam consist of the total score for the performance of all the tasks that is rounded to the whole number by the rules of mathematics.

The algorithm for solving each task includes separate stages that vary in complexity and importance for solution to the problem. Therefore, specific tasks and stages of solving them are assessed separately as follows:

Task 1 (14 points):

5 points for correct use of the normative legal base for the regulation of the issues described in the situational problem;

2.5 points for the correct answer to the first question that is put in the situational task;

2.5 points for the correct answer to the second question, which is put in the situational task;

3.5 points for the availability and reasonableness of conclusions;

0.5 points for tidiness of presentation of the results.
